Amplify human ability and reduce work related injuries

Work-related musculoskeletal disorders from stress and fatigue are on the rise across a variety of industries, costing employers more than $50 billion annually in disability and healthcare costs – as well as lost productivity.

Our Mission

At Ekso Bionics, we believe every injury is preventable. We developed EVO with the goal to eliminate work-related injuries to the neck, shoulder and back.

Our Solution

EVO's stacked-link structure provides 5-15 lbs. of assistance per arm. It allows for an increased range of motion and is proven to reduce muscle activation by 50%. Designed with minimal touch-points, EVO is consistently rated as the most comfortable exoskeleton available.

Your Result

Increase your productivity and reduce worker fatigue. EVO improves health and endurance and is proven to reduce medical visits by 50% when made available to employees.
